Looking ahead

IPPF’s Change Goals: Unite, Deliver and Perform provide us with focus and priority to achieve accelerated results by 2015 and to maximize impact for those people with the greatest unmet needs for sexual and reproductive health and rights. These goals reflect our zero-tolerance to human rights violations, and they ensure accountability to our partners and donors, to the public and to ourselves.

Who we are

IPPF is a global service provider and a leading advocate of sexual and reproductive health and rights for all. We are a worldwide movement of national organizations working with and for communities and individuals.

Our work contributes to four Millennium Development Goals:
- Gender equality
- Child mortality
- Maternal health
- HIV and AIDS

Our key achievements

- 89.6m sexual and reproductive health services provided
- 116 policy and/or legal changes in support of sexual and reproductive health and rights
- 2.6m unintended pregnancies averted*
- 710,000 unsafe abortions averted
- 30,000+ staff
- 153 Member Associations
- 46% Urban
- 54% Peri-urban and rural
- 4 out of 10 of our services are provided to young people under 25 years old.

Advocacy results 2005–11

IPPF's advocacy creates an enabling environment to increase access to services, promote sexual rights and gender equality, and reduce stigma and discrimination. Member Associations make a significant difference to the lives of millions by advocating for changes to laws and policies in support of sexual and reproductive health and rights, and opposing those that are harmful.

From 2005 to 2011, Member Associations contributed to

- 451 policy and/or legislative changes in support of sexual and reproductive health and rights in 130 countries.

Western Hemisphere
- Combating gender-based violence
  - In Latin America, up to a third of women have suffered physical violence in their lifetime, and up to 18 per cent have experienced sexual violence. Likely, women's rights in the region are not protected in the private and public spheres, making women more vulnerable to gender-based violence occurs.

Africa
- Increasing financial commitment to contraception
  - Nearly a quarter of the 222 million women worldwide who have an unmet need for modern contraception live in sub-Saharan Africa. Adequate financial support from international donors and national governments has led to a funding gap for contraception.

European Network
- Enabling access to safe and legal abortion
  - Every year, 1.3 million women and girls die from unsafe abortions; one-fourth of them are teenagers. However, 65 Member Associations in Europe have successfully advocated for 12 policy and/or legislative changes in their countries, domestic violence remains

Arab World
- Supporting people living with HIV
  - The new Preventive HIV legislation in the Middle East and North Africa, more than doubled from 2005 to 2010, and up to 90 per cent of people living with HIV are undetected for fear of stigma and discrimination. There is an increasing financial commitment to HIV services in their countries. For example, in Sudan, the national HIV strategic plan now focuses more on socially excluded groups, including men who have sex with men, sex workers and prisoners. One strategy is to challenge the law to prevent all hospitals from providing abortion. The Member Associations in the region and in Europe successfully advocated for improved access to abortion.

South Asia
- Upholding women's rights
  - In Pakistan, strong advocacy from women and other pro-Abortion rights groups continues.

East and South East Asia and Oceania
- Providing comprehensive sexuality education
  - IPPF’s approach to comprehensive sexuality education (CSE) encompasses sexual expression, fullness and pleasure, and supports young people to make positive, healthy choices about sex and contraception. 65 Member Associations in 30 countries have successfully advocated for contraceptive provision. Each Association has worked with diverse groups of parliamentarians and officials from the education ministry staff and local authorities on CSE to benefit from the new CSE component, which is aimed at reducing the high rate of unwanted pregnancies and sexually transmitted infections among young people.
